SERIES OF ROBBERIES

Several Concerns in Tropicco and Glendale Robbed During Past Week—Local Talent Supposed to be Implicated

Since Friday night of last week when burglars broke into the store of the Tropicco Mercantile Co., as told elsewhere by our Tropicco correspondent, there have been a series of startling burglaries in both Tropicco and Glendale which for sheer nervousness and paucity of the loot carried away, are unprecedented in the previous observation of the officials who have for some time past been trying to catch the criminals. That it is the work of boys who want to be "real bad" and are putting up a pretty good semblance of the real thing, seems to be the general opinion. On two occasions they have fired pistol shots at persons interfering with them, showing that they are really dangerous and for the safety of the community should be put in their proper places behind prison walls as soon as possible. That this will be the result there is little room for doubt, unless they furnish subjects for the coroner, which is not at all improbable, as their immunity for so long seems to have made them perfectly reckless of results and something unpleasant is due to happen to them shortly. One, a resident of Tropicco, against whom pretty strong evidence has been secured, has only avoided arrest so far by keeping himself carefully concealed. There is evidently a small gang of kindred spirits in the combination and they have established a system of signals and picketing which has up to the present worked with great success. A partial record of late performances is as follows:

Friday night, last week, broke into Tropicco store and exchanged shots with watchers who slept in the building. Saturday entered Glendale hardware store, stole a few tools, some 32 cartridges, a penknife and other small articles. Sunday night broke into Nobles' Dry Goods store, stole blankets and underwear. Monday, supposed to have stolen bicycle belonging to Peterson's store. Tuesday night entered new unoccupied house belonging to J. W. Parker, stole a few tools and the same night broke into the residence of Messrs. Dutton and Borthwick. Wednesday night the home of Mrs. Baird on Tropicco avenue was burglarized and a few things of no great value taken. The report that the Tropicco store was again visited is erroneous.

The mode of entrance is crude yet effective. The doors of the hardware store and of Noble Brothers dry goods store are ruined by the holes drilled through them with a large bit around the lock. The gang seem to have a craving for such articles as would be needed for camping out, and probably have a camp in some secluded spot in the hills.

PRESBYTERIAN SUPPER AND CONGREGATIONAL MEETING.

The Presbyterians certainly secured a good attendance of their members and others interested in the church, by a display of their hospitality at the Guild Hall Thursday evening. A bounteous repast was served at 6:30 and after an hour devoted to a discussion of the viands and other subjects, the real business of the evening was taken up. Rev. Ward, after appropriate prayer and Bible reading, stated that the object of the meeting was to discuss the subject of enlarged church and Sunday school facilities, and invited a free discussion and suggestions from all present in regard to the matter.

Two or three suggestions of importance were made and considerable difference of opinion expressed, but a spirit of harmony pervaded the meeting and none of those who spoke were apparently influenced by any idea except the desire to do the thing best for the work of the church. Some of the speakers, indeed, were careful to say that, while having a natural preference, they were at the same time willing to lay it aside for the general welfare. Several favored a proposition to build a new structure on the church lot on Fourth street, to cost about $4000, so constructed as to permit of a future addition, the building now on the grounds to be left standing for a while, as it was generally agreed that it could not be safely moved nor advantageously disposed of.

Others favored a new location further toward the west side of town, believing that such location would be better calculated to hold the congregation together and make a stronger church in view of the constantly increasing number of people in that section.

A minority seemed to favor a second church west of Brand Boulevard. A motion finally prevailed, appointing a committee of five to canvass for funds for the various propositions suggested. The following named members of the church were appointed on the committee: Mrs. Dan Campbell, Mrs. Elias Ayers, Mr. M. P. Harrison, Mr. J. E. Colvin and Mr. E. B. Riggs.

THIRD MONDAY MUSICAL.

At the Country Club House.

Not only successful but brilliantly so, was the musical given on Monday afternoon, May 17th, at the Glendale Country Club house, under the direction of Mrs. Lillian Dow, assisted as hostess by Mrs. Heibert Bartlett and Mrs. Charles Temple. Eminent fitting was the exquisite arrangement of fairy-like mustards, California poppies and a wealth of roses, completing a perfect setting and fragrantly creating an atmosphere which needed the music only for perfection. There was a short business session at which the principal business transacted was the appointment of Mrs. L. C. Rice of Tropicco as vice president to succeed Mrs. A. W. Collins, resigned. The end of the reception hour found the assembly room well-filled with smartly gowned members of the "Maidens and Matrons" under whose auspices the musical was given; and a large number of their guests whose appreciation of real music could not be doubted. The dainty yellow programs, tied with poppy satin ribbon, announced the first number an interpretation of Grieg by Miss Ina Whittaker. Other numbers by this accomplished instrumentalist were a prelude by Chopin and an exquisite rendition of Liszt's "Skylarks."

As an interpreter of German songs, Miss Helen Tappe, soloist for the Fellowship church, was well received, but when she presented "An Open Secret" and "Just A-Wearing for You," she received something like an ovation, and was recalled again and again. Mrs. Elizabeth Fonda, soloist in the University Methodist Episcopal church, who long has specialized in church and oratorio work, gave a brilliant exposition of Willeby's "Stolen Wings," her flexible voice possessing brilliancy and depth to a fine degree, her tone production proving rich and natural and what was more, imbued with the personality of the singer and the spirit of the composer.

"The Psalm of Life," as interpreted by Pinsuti, was presented by three of the matrons, Mrs. Thomas Thornton, Mrs. A. L. Bryant and Mrs. Lillian Dow, revealing anew the familiar grandeur of the poem.

Where all is excellent it is difficult to discriminate, but one cannot help characterizing Mr. Eugene Nowland, violinist, as the bright particular star of the afternoon, and it was indeed a red letter day for Glendale to have in her midst an artist of such high standing and so well known in musical circles.

Such playing as his, so full of poetry and romance and withal replete with dignity and power, holds his listeners in a spell of delight that at the same time has an undercurrent of sadness. This latter was especially noticeable in his first encore—the Swan Song of Saint Saeus, which he also played at the Guild Hall concert last week in the "Violin Maker of Cremona," upon which occasion he took the principal part in this beautiful little drama, and the combination of his really splendid acting and playing was so stirring that many of the audience were literally moved to tears. It takes true art to do that!

Mr. Nowland gave, amongst other selections, Wagner's Prize Song and Legend of Bohm. He is very fortunate in having a skilful and sympathetic accompanist, his sister, Mrs. Semmacher, who deserves the highest praise for her delightful and artistic interpretation. Mr. Nowland also showed his versatility by giving a short but most interesting talk on the subject of the American Music Society, of which he is the Glendale Coast representative and which through his efforts principally is rapidly growing in its scope and influence among the musicians of the coast, its principal object being the encouragement of American musical artists and their productions.

Among the guests present were Mrs. W. P. Powers, Mrs. G. U. Spencer, Mrs. Frank E. Price, Miss Remick, Mrs. M. A. Chamberlain of Los Angeles, Mrs. Myers and Mrs. Rosenthal, New Orleans; Mrs. Clemons, Mrs. Barnes, Scranton, Pa.; Mrs. Paul Williams, Miss Nellie Williams, Ocean Park; Mrs. William George Tight, Albuquerque, New Mexico; Mrs. Seigle Bancroft, Mrs. A. Stephenson, Tropicco; and of Glendale, Mrs. Lillian H. Wells and daughter, Miss Anita, Mrs. A. P. Metcalf, Ruth Alden Byram, Mrs. D. Winslow Hunt, Mrs. A. Williams, Mrs. Ormsby, Mrs. A. Mitchell, Mrs. Ayres, Mrs. W. Hines, Mrs. F. L. Church, Miss Austin George, Miss A. Johnson, Mrs. P. S. McNitt and Mrs. Ed Lee.

WOMAN'S MISSIONARY SOCIETY.

The missionary society of the First Presbyterian church, Glendale, met at the home of Mrs. Porter, on Fifth and Kenwood streets, Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Porter was assisted by her daughter, Mrs. Calla, in receiving. Among the guests being Mrs. L. H. Porter, Dr. Harden and Mrs. Black of Los Angeles.

The program was given by Miss Harris and Mrs. Galloway on Foreign Missions, and the Home Missions was concisely handled by Mrs. Minner and Mrs. Pliske, Miss Sherer had the devotional exercises.

NEW YORK STATE PICNIC.

New Yorkers are invited by the New York state society to a basket picnic to be held Thursday, May 27, next at Sycamore Park. Dinner at noon, all New Yorkers and their friends invited.

Social and Personal

Miss Marion Comstock entertained five of her San Fernando classmates with a picnic at Sycamore Canyon on Thursday last.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Henderson left last Thursday for their old home in Nebraska, where they will probably spend the summer.

Mr. R. C. Sternberg has returned from a week's absence, during which time he visited Bakersfield, looking after business affairs.

Don't forget the place for fine lamb is Glendale Market.

Mr. F. M. Beers has returned from a visit to his son, R. E. Beers, who recently moved from Glendale to a ranch at Delano, in Kern county.

That enterprising citizen, Mr. J. M. Freeman, has put up a new electric light in front of his barber shop and cigar stand on Brand boulevard.

The many friends of Mrs. G. U. Moyse will be pleased to know that she is convalescing at Redlands, where she will remain for several weeks, probably.

Mr. Arthur E. Haig spent last week at San Francisco. He returned Monday morning and his decision is that the city of Glendale is the only place in which to live.

This week only, to advertise our good work, we will dry clean or steam clean all skirts for 75c.

There will be a mothers' meeting at the Sanitarium Gymnasium building, on Wednesday afternoon, 3 o'clock. Every mother interested in social purity work urged to be present.

Mrs. E. I. Byram has returned from a three-day's visit to her son, Mr. G. E. Byram, and family, near Ontario, Cal., where Mr. Byram is engaged with Mr. Ira Tucker in large farming operations.

Mr. John Addison and family left Monday last for their old home, where they will probably remain until such a time as they can dispose of their property and return to California for a permanent home.

Glendale Market for fine meat for Sunday dinner; also poultry dressed to order.

Mr. and Mrs. G. L. DeTrux of Portland, Ore., spent Thursday in Glendale visiting the family of O. C. Logan, Jr. Mr. DeTrux is an old newspaper man, having been connected for some years with the "Rockland Oregonian."

Mr. A. L. Eves has returned from a ten days' visit to relatives in Santa Clara. He reports clear weather there and an entire absence of fog, but a stiff northwind moving in the afternoon that makes an overcoat a necessity for comfort.

This week only. Telephone and our wagon will call. Glendale Dye Works.

Wm. J. Sanford and wife with three daughters and one son have come from Syracuse, N. Y., and bought the house of J. S. Platt, 117 Mary street. Mr. Sanford is the son of H. H. Sanford, and brother of Mrs. E. K. Fisher, corner of Orange and Third street.

Rev. J. F. Moody pastor of the Baptist church, has returned after a three weeks' absence and will occupy his pulpit next Sunday. Mr. Moody was called to Willows, Cal., to see a brother who was very ill. He took the sick man to San Francisco, where he underwent a surgical operation and is now recovering.

The Glendale Market keeps fresh fish on Friday.

The local Home Missionary society of the M. E. Church had a pleasant outing on Tuesday last when under the chaperonage of Mrs. M. E. Brown (president), and Mr. M. E. Brown, they went to the South Hollywood camp grounds and enjoyed a picnic dinner. After dinner the party visited the Spanish Orphans home, taking with them a liberal donation of fruit and clothing.

Mr. D. A. Talbot of Sycamore Canyon, came at the NEWS office a few days ago. Mr. Talbot is one of our successful fruit growers and reports an unusually large crop of peaches, apricots and plums on the trees. He is now engaged in the tedious work of thinning out peaches, of which crop nature in this section is given to startling larger crops than she can finish in desirable conditions of size and quality.

Glendale Dye Works. Tel. Sunset 2071; Home 832.

There was brought into the NEWS office during the past week a bunch of oats the stocks of which were six feet in length, and one or two of the straws measured six feet six inches. The oats on the five or six acre piece of ground from which this sample came will average nearly six feet and as it is located within the corporate limits of the city of Glendale, one naturally wonders what oats is doing out in the real country.

Noble Brothers have sold out their dry goods business to Mr. R. M. McGee, of Long Beach. They have recently moved into their new store in the Filger block and the necessity felt by both of them for taking a vacation was one of the principal inducements which decided them to give up their growing business. Mr. McGee understands the dry goods business and will endeavor to cater successfully to the wants of the Glendale people.

Revival meetings are still being held at the Christian church with increasing interest. There have been a number of accessions to the church and the meetings will be continued during the coming week. Prof. Stout will have charge of the singing at every service. The subject of the pastor's sermon Sunday morning will be: "The Bible View of Church and State" evening: "Patron and Assurance."

Dr. F. L. Osenberg, dentist, Watson Block, Fourth and Glendale avenues. Phone Sunset 293.

The following list of books has recently been purchased and may be found at the library. Following the Golden Books and Saddle, Man from Glenary, The Code of Victor Jallot, Adventures of a Nice Young Man, Nancy's Country Christmas, Master of Stair, Septimus, The Ancient Law, Birds that Hunt and Are Hunted, The Riverman, Dorothy South, Evelyn Byrd, Truth Dexter, Little City of Hope, Ben Hur, The Long Arm of Man, The Mission, Tommy Trot's Visit to Santa Claus, The Lion's Share, The Spell, Tonting on the Plains, Dr. Sever, Old Creole Days, The Queen's Chair, The Wards of Liberty, The Sky Pilot, The Prospector, Mr. Opp, Lewis Rand, The Stopping Lady, Rev. The following contributions have been received since our last report: Mrs. Wells, 103 miscellaneous magazines, M. L. Anderson, 4 Socialist Reviews, J. M. Supple, 10 Saturday Evening Posts, Mrs. Ayers, 90 miscellaneous magazines, Mrs. Lenox, 75 miscellaneous magazines, Mrs. Johnston, 18 miscellaneous magazines, Mrs. Hovis, 23 Saturday Evening Posts, Mrs. McConnell, 12 Munsey, Mr. Wellner, 12 Saturday Evening Posts.

REAL ESTATE AND BUILDING OPERATIONS.

The most important sale of realty in this section for some time past was that of the Lee property on Adams street near Ninth. The property consists of fifteen acres of any fronting on Adams street, two acres of which is an orchard of full bearing navel orange trees, the remaining five acres being in selected deciduous fruit trees. The sale was made by Mr. F. W. McIntyre, the purchaser being Mr. Wm. W. McElroy of Helena, Mont. The price is understood as being in the neighborhood of $20,000. There is a small house on the place which Mr. McElroy and family will occupy in a few days, and he will begin at once to improve the property by building an up-to-date residence and ornamenting the grounds. Mr. McElroy is reported as being the kind of a man who is a valuable acquisition to any community.

Finishing touches are being put on the Bank of Glendale building on the corner of Fourth and Glendale avenue, but it will probably be another month before it is ready for occupation. On the new High school building, the plastering has been done and the finishing work is well under way.

Mr. J. A. Cole has sold his house and lot at 139 South Brand boulevard, to Mr. C. E. Reed; price $4200. Architect Lamborn is furnishing plans for a house to be built by Mr. Caruthers on Louise street above Doran.

He also furnishes the plans for the $2000 one-story brick block being erected by Cole and Dick at San Fernando.

Among this week's building permits issued are the following: Alfred F. Priest, a six-room one-story cottage costing $2600 to be erected at 1226 Chestnut street.

Geo. H. Barager, a six-room story and half house at 629 Adams street, to cost $2000.

Mabel Doffelmeyer, 1117 Lomita avenue, five-room cottage costing $1000.

NORMAL SCHOOL GIRLS ENTER-TAINED.

Friday a hundred normal school girls threw books and their "school marm" cares to the winds and became just girls and flocked to Glendale where they were met by Mrs. Arnold Gessall, at one time principal of the primary educational department in the State normal school in Los Angeles. The guests were soon made to feel at home and voted "made to feel at home" when trays of home-made cookies and little fancy baskets of strawberries were passed, and every girl could neither look to right or left of her for strawberries.

Mrs. H. Johnston spent the week in Long Beach with friends.

Rev. H. E. McGrew and wife and daughter, Marion, spent Tuesday with relatives, H. P. Smith and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Addison, who have been spending the past year in Glendale, were given a series of dinner parties by their relatives prior to their departure for their old home in Windsor Mills, Canada. On Wednesday night Mr. and Mrs. Richard Addison entertained for them, and on Thursday, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Addison invited them to dinner. Friday and Saturday nights Mrs. George Ward and Mrs. Henry Ward each gave them a dinner and they left with regret, these hospitable friends and relatives.

DEATH OF MRS. WINTZ.

Mrs. Catherine N. Wintz, residing near High Bridge, died Saturday last of heart disease. She was 65 years old and leaves a husband and four sons. Interment occurred on Monday last at Forest Lawn cemetery, after services at Pulliam's undertaking establishment.

TO TRY GROWING OF EASTERN HARDWOODS IN CALIFORNIA.

The Pacific Coast will soon be the scene of an interesting tree growing experiment. The United States Forest service is planning to introduce a number of the more important eastern hardwoods into California, and will this year experiment with chestnut, hickory, basswood, red oak and yellow poplar or tulip trees. Small patches of these trees will be planted near the forest rangers' cabins on the National Forests, and if these do well larger plantations on a commercial scale will soon be established on wider areas.

There are over 125 different species of trees in California, a number of which produce some of the most valuable varieties of lumber in the country. Although considerably over one-half of the species are hardwood or broad-leaved trees, yet, with the exception of the exotic eucalyptus, there is not a single species of hardwood here ranking in commercial importance with the leading eastern hardwoods. Climatic conditions in many parts of California are undoubtedly favorable for the growth of a number of the valuable hardwoods, and the absence of these trees is due mostly to unfavorable factors of seed distribution.

If the experiments are successful, a valuable asset will have been added to the forest resources of this state, which should prove of special benefit to the local furniture and vehicle industries. Chestnut and red oak are highly esteemed for furniture, while hickory, basswood and eucalyptus at its command, California should lead all other states in the vehicle industry.

PARENT-TEACHER ASSOCIATION.

On May 14 a call was sent to the mothers of the children in the Sixth street school to meet for the purpose of organizing a Parent-Teachers' Association, with a view to bringing home and school in closer touch. The mothers listened to a very interesting address by Mrs. C. C. Noble, one of the state officers of the Mothers' Congress who told of different lines of work carried on in Los Angeles in order to give Glendale mothers an idea upon which to base their work.

Mr. Ernest Lickley of the Board of Education, gave a most able talk on the so-called bad boys. He spoke emphatically against herding boys or girls in a detention home for trivial actions that were really surplus energy that was being worked off. His talk was especially fine for fathers, emphasizing the point that each father should take time from other duties to learn his own boy, and at least know his age, name of school and teacher. The association was organized with the following officers: Dr. Jessie Russell, president; Mrs. Mae Emery, first vice president; Mrs. Maude Robbins, second vice president; Mrs. Lulu Grosvenor, secretary.

The circle will meet the second Friday of each month at three p. m. and all are cordially invited to attend.

THE LAST MEET.

The Hoo-Doos sadly gathered on Cedar street, Saturday night, and held down their former tryst for several hours, discussing (chiefly cussing) the ways and means for the banquet and box party to be given the two holding the highest score, Mrs. J. A. Colgrove and Mr. John Hunchberger, respectively. They expressed their sorrow further by clearing away the delicatibles, and a la Oliver Twist, calling for more. One hour of what was enjoyed, when Mrs. Alphonse Tower gave out the season's score. Thus ended one of the jolliest, most harmonious and thoroughly enjoyable little clubs ever organized in Glendale, where fun has been dealt out full measure and overflowing, where quips and jokes and a little really brilliant whist playing "always made the fairest weather."

When the Hoo-Doos met together, the password, the Hoo-Doo grip and the happy memories of "swaps" go into cold storage, there to remain a few months or forever, time will tell. So long!

TUESDAY AFTERNOON CLUB.

The annual meeting of the Glendale Tuesday Afternoon Club will be held May 25, at I. O. O. F. hall, at 2:30 p. m. This is the annual election of officers and a large attendance is requested. And another important subject will be discussed and decided is the proposed new amendment to the by-laws. And a representative vote is necessary. The chairmen of the different standing committees will come prepared to furnish an annual report of their work, as will also the secretary and treasurer. It is hoped all members will be present and be prepared to discuss and vote.

THE MOUNTAIN WAIF.

Performance To Be Given By the Fire Boys.

On the evening of May 31st and June 1st next the boys of the Glendale Fire department assisted by some of their friends will give a dramatic performance at Filger's Opera house, which promises to be a great success. The young folks have been preparing for it for some weeks and under the able instruction of Mrs. Stockbridge, are reported to have gotten their parts very fine. The cast will consist of nine male and four female parts, all local people.

MALICIOUS MISCHIEF.

Time tables of the Glendale-Eagle Rock railway, posted at various points about town have been in many instances torn down by some maliciously disposed individual for whom the town marshal is on the look-out.

CITY TRUSTEES

Routine Business—Oak Drive Grade to be Established—Third Reading of Bond Election Ordinance Deferred a Week

All members present. Demands as follows were referred to the finance committee:

E. M. Nichols, case pigeon holes $ 5.00
Glendale News, publishing..... 3.70
W. L. Nelson, inspecting St. wk..... 11.25
J. M. Sprinkle, labor St. dept..... 20.25
F. Evans, do..... 9.00
J. Pagliuso, rock for streets..... 1.65

Demands previously referred to the finance committee were reported favorably.

Ordinance number 97 establishing the grade of Oak Drive from the West line of Brand boulevard to the East line of Central avenue, was taken up for a third reading and was adopted. The matter of bond election, ordinance for which passed first and second reading last week, was then taken up. City Attorney Baker advised the board that owing to the fact that a new law in regard to holding election went into effect on May 20th, it would be necessary to postpone further action on the ordinance until the next meeting. The matter was therefore laid over, final action to be taken next week. (This delays the election until June 8th).

A resolution was passed requesting Postmaster Flint to keep the Glendale postoffice lobby open until 8 p. m.

The street superintendent was requested to give five days' notice to property owners on Adams street to trim up the hedges which encroach on the sidewalk, or the city will cause the same to be done. The question of employing a night watchman was referred to police and sanitary committee.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES.

Saturday, May 22, the baseball team played the Bonita team at the home field. The game will be called at 2:30. A large attendance is desired. All come, but don't forget that the admission is fifteen cents.

The Junior play will be held on June 4th, at Filger's hall, and on June 5th at G. A. R. hall in Tropicco. The juniors have been working very hard for the last few weeks and as a result intend to give a first-class performance. Tickets can be had from any junior.

"In the Garden of the Emperor of Japan," cantata to be given by the High School, Tuesday evening, May 25.

Next Tuesday, May 25th, has now been set for the High School musical entertainment which was postponed from last Saturday. The school makes an exception to its rule in giving an entertainment on a school day but no other date was available.

The students under Mrs. Anderson's able direction have done excellent work and those who have been at the rehearsals predict a rare treat.

The plan of the musical skit permits of a wealth of costuming. All nations come to congratulate the emperor on his birthday. The gayly dressed Italians, gypsies, Japanese, Dutch, Irish, etc., throng the royal court and make much fun and laughter. The chorus will consist of over eighty voices. There are two double quartets and five folk dances and several drills, including the "Butterfly," by request.

METHODIST NOTES.

J. F. Humphrey, Pastor.

Morning sermon, "Water Baptism," evening, "Christian Science." Miss Nettie Watson will lead the 6:30 p. m. Epworth league devotional meeting, subject, "Forsaking Our Lord."

Class meeting, 12 m. C. Tooker, leader.

Prayer meeting, Wednesday, 7:45 p. m.

Official board meeting, Thursday evening.

You are cordially invited to these services.

Next Friday night a public reception will be tendered Bishop Hughes, in First church, Los Angeles. The bishop will deliver an address.

REBEKAHS GIVE A PARTY.

The Carnation Rebekah Lodge No. 257 invited their friends to a dance in the I. O. O. F. hall, Saturday night and was so well attended and pronounced such a success that hints for more affairs of the same kind were dropped.

The honeysuckle decorations about the punch table were very attractive, as were the other flowers distributed about the hall.

REMARKABLE GROWTH OF LONG BEACH.

A recent issue of the Long Beach Press publishes a list of new buildings in course of construction in that city "totalling $611,000." In this list are embraced forty-one residences, eight business structures and six apartment houses. It is a remarkable showing of prosperity for our neighbor by the sea and we congratulate her.

Board of Trade Meeting at City Hall

Monday Evening, May 24th

Full attendance requested. Important business in connection with the new pavilion.

GLENDAL, CAL., MAY 22, 1909

Pity the sorrows of a lonely man. Abdul Hamid, deposed, is followed to his retreat by eighty wives.

Now that the Los Angeles authorities are becoming real strict with the automobile speeders, there is ground for hope that they will some day arrest and bastinado the fiend who rides the whiz wheel.

Alfred Burbank, brother of the "Wizard," in an address in Los Angeles, the other day, asserts that it is possible by improvements on the various members of the cactus family, to add one-third to the food products of the world!

TERCENTENARY OF THE LANDING OF THE PILGRIMS.

The "Boston Herald" of April 19th makes the official announcement of a World's Exposition to be held in that city in 1920 to celebrate the landing of the Pilgrims. It is an event most deserving of such a celebration and it should be recognized as an affair of national importance, by every loyal American.

It was an event of tremendous importance in the history of the world and should be fittingly celebrated. The Mayflower has vanished from the ken of mortals, but Plymouth Rock remains and the government that the Pilgrims did so much to establish upon a firm foundation, grows stronger with the passing years. Ten years is not too much time to allow for the preparations which will have to be made for this great exposition. It is right that Boston and New England should lead in the matter, but the rest of the union should be quick to follow.

"THE UNWRITTEN LAW."

The recent trial of Thaw in New York city is responsible for an attempt to reinject into the administration of justice the old idea of punishment by the individual without appeal to the courts. In other words, it was a proposition to turn back one long step toward barbarism. We are glad to notice that the idea has not been adopted to any considerable extent by juries since the famous case alluded to in which it was not successful. A Los Angeles judge a few days ago gave a jury distinctly to understand that no "unwritten law" would be recognized in his court, and he did well to do so. The "unwritten" law is expressed in the unspoken idea that one human being should be given the right to inflict the death penalty upon another, who has committed a wrong against him or against some other whom he feels called upon to avenge. It is an idea that is fundamentally illogical and vicious in its results. It necessitates the assumption that a man is the fit and proper judge of his own actions, however dangerous they may be to others; and it further assumes that if a man thinks, he also knows.

It was the crude idea of justice which prevailed in primitive man when he was, as we fondly believe, more closely related to the animal than he is in this twentieth century. If it is granted that a man has the right to kill another who has injured him when the evidence is clear, it logically follows that the right must be accorded to him who merely thinks himself wronged when the evidence would be conclusive to, no one but himself. It follows also that if the individual is permitted to act as judge and executioner and avenge himself upon his fellowman, the misanthropic anarchist will argue that he has the same right to avenge himself upon society, and to run amuck whenever it pleases his frenzied fancy. It is easy enough to imagine cases in which it would seem that the earth would be better for the taking off of some one of its cumberers, but in no case does the result of such rash action cease with the individual act, for there follows an innumerable progeny of evil in its wake. Society cannot afford to give encouragement to any unwritten laws which excuse the taking of human life. The fallible judgment of twelve men who earnestly endeavor to form a righteous verdict, is a poor enough imitation of absolute justice, and anything less is bad indeed.

PROFITS OF THE MIDDLEMEN.

Senator Flint is credited with asserting at a meeting of the finance committee of the senate the other day, that high prices are due more to big profits demanded by retailers and middlemen than to the protective tariff.

He is said to have further declared that the retailers and department stores of the country are making enormous profits. The fact that some of the newspapers which derive a large portion of their income from department store advertising are eagerly rushing to the defense of their patrons, need not go far to discredit Senator Flint's statement. It is fair to assume that the speaker did not mean his remarks to apply to all retail dealers, but only to the larger and more successful concerns and with that understanding it is not likely that his assertion will be controverted. The profits of the large retail concerns certainly are enormous. Within the recollection of the writer a large number of the business men of Los Angeles have risen from financial obscurity to affluence, their wealth being acquired in the retail business. And it has been so no doubt all over the country, not in one line of the retail business, but in many. When we consider the dealers in the products of the soil and the farm in general, the case is easily made out. In many cases the cost to the consumer is double that received by the producer, and the middleman is responsible for the difference. This is particularly the case in regard to fruit and vegetables. The farmer's wife who takes a pound of butter to her grocer will receive probably twenty cents for it; the grocer sells it for thirty. Tomatoes last season, could not at times be sold at all in the market to dealers, but the consumer paid at all times a good price to the storekeeper. It is the same with fruits—the price is always high enough to the consumer, but the producer must take from the middleman just what he can get. There is some excuse for this condition possibly in regard to perishable fruits, but the producer of dried fruits which will keep indefinitely, finds that the retailer will give him only about fifty per cent of the price he charges the consumer. We recently in California set apart a "Raisin" day for the purpose of boosting that particular product by introducing it to consumers who for some reason have not eagerly bought that fruit. Did it occur to the promoters of that effort at boosting that possibly the wide margin between the price asked of the consumer and that paid to the producer of the raisin, had much to do with the comparatively light demand for the fruit? Grape growers get about three cents per pound for the dried product. Ask your grocer the price of raisins!

We believe that it is possible for Senator Flint to make out his case and we commend him for trying in the face of the chamber of commerce, which will probably single him out now for a "recall."

THE NEWS AND THE LIGHTING PROBLEM.

We stated some time ago that when the question of voting bonds for the purpose of securing a municipal lighting system, came to an issue, this paper would give both parties to the inevitable controversy a fair showing in its columns. This is not the general policy pursued by newspapers, it is true; usually when any such subject is thrust upon a community, the newspapers immediately line up on one side or the other and keep just where they start right through the campaign. The cause of this condition of affairs is explained by the fact that too frequently the newspaper is far from possessing any real independence; it is tied up to one interest or another so that the side it will take in any controversy can easily be determined by those who are acquainted with it, long beforehand. This does not imply that the paper is "bought" in the ordinary and more offensive sense of the word, but that it is so situated that its own immediate interests are inextricably interwoven with other and larger outside interests, that it simply and naturally drifts in that direction. And yet it is quite common for the editorial and all the other departments of a newspaper to be subject to an arrangement made at the business end of the establishment—to be, in brief, edited from the outside at so much per.

This paper will not be run on that basis by its present owner. Its editorial department is not marketable. It is our intention in the forthcoming campaign over the bond question, to give to our readers all obtainable information upon the subject of the municipal ownership of lighting plants—and in doing this it will not make a particle of difference to us whether the facts which come to us are favorable to the proposed bond issue or otherwise, nor whether the properly expressed ideas on the subject, even when not accompanied by statements of facts, are for or against. There is one thing, however, which will be barred from our columns, and that is any reflection upon the motives or character of the city trustees or any other individual, unless supported by indisputable facts.

In pursuance of the above outlined policy, we admitted to our columns last week a letter signed "Taxpayer," which came in just as we were going to press, was scanned hurriedly and published, not, of course, as expressive of any ideas of our own. As this letter has been printed by the author, distributed by the author at Glendale doors and by the author attributed to the GLENDAL NEWS (inferentially as expressive of the sentiments of the editor), it does not come up to the specifications set forth above and seems to require special treatment in order to get its poison out of the system of the unfortunate who swallowed it, if such there be. It is not our intention to allow the public to be deceived by our correspondents as to matters of fact, and this applies as well to one side as to the other. The author of that letter makes three assertions which if true would be worthy of consideration and have some weight as arguments—they lack the merit of truth, however.

This is the first: "There seem to be many strange features connected with the passage of this ordinance, chief among which are lack of details, etc." As a fact the matter has not a solitary strange or mysterious feature; details of all sorts have been obtained and are at the service of any taxpayer who cares to inquire for them; a complete outline of work proposed to be done has been prepared by the city engineer, showing where proposed pole and wire lines shall run, etc.

Here is the second: "The ordinance sets the rate of interest at six per cent, when any bond syndicate would purchase the bonds at five per cent, etc." The writer of the quoted communication, this same "Taxpayer," was present at the meeting of the city trustees when the city attorney presented the ordinance as drafted by him for adoption—he heard the trustees object to the rate of interest named, heard them voice their objections unanimously, and heard them instruct him to change it to five per cent before their next meeting, when they would amend it to that effect. And the last: "The Anaheim proposition, like all other municipal lighting systems in California, is a failure, and this fact is apparent and easily proven." The trustees appointed a committee of three citizens some weeks ago to go to Anaheim to investigate the lighting system of that city, two of them, Messrs. Johnston and Pack, went there, investigated and made a written report, which will be published in our next issue if not in this, showing that the Anaheim system is a success and generally satisfactory to the people of that city. As to the latter part of the proposition a statement that "all municipal lighting systems in California are failures" is so sweeping as to contradict itself. During the campaign we shall give facts in regard to this matter. The opponents of the proposed bond issue have made a serious mistake in using unscrupulous instruments to work against it, and should hedge at once if they hope to get through the campaign with any kind of honor. No cause deserves success gained by misrepresentation and falsehood, and with an intelligent people very rarely attains it.

THE CALIFORNIA PROMOTION

California is sending her first deciduous fruit forward. Cherries in boxes being shipped. Reports received by the California Promotion committee are to the effect that cherries will be a fair crop but lighter than last year; apricots will be light in early varieties with promise of better crop in late. Contrary to early indications, peaches promise an abundance of all shipping varieties; Bartlett pears give good promise; grapes are well advanced and an abundant crop is anticipated; prunes give promise of good supply as do plums. In quality fruit promises to be above the average.

Heavy crop and large size of fruit is the report that comes from citrus fruit districts. Crop movement is greater than at this period last year. Large quantities of lemons are being held waiting favorable market conditions.

Colonist travel to California during the past two months has been steady with marked increase over that of last year. Inquiries from home seekers, both at headquarters of the Committee and at its various agencies, show marked increase. Tourist travel promises to be above the average during the coming summer, as California's advantages as an all-year resort are becoming better known.

Reports from all cities and towns of the State show constantly improving business conditions, there being a noticeable increase in bank clearings, and strengthening of wholesale trade. Building activity is also reported from all points.

Last Thursday morning the horribly mutilated body of little Annie Polera, a nine-year-old pupil of the Los Feliz school, across the Los Angeles river from Tropic, was found in Griffith Park, partlyway between the school house and her home, on the north side of the park. She had been missing since Monday, but the parents state they thought she might be with friends. No clue has yet been discovered to this, one of the most diabolical murders in the records of the county.

"REV." FACKENTHAL, LATELY OF GLENDAL, BECOMES "MR." FACKENTHAL.

As announced in Friday's issue of the Los Angeles Times, the Rev. C. S. Fackenthal, lately of Glendale but more recently pastor of the Episcopal church at Second, has resigned from the priesthood, in order to engage in business.

Correspondence

Editor GLENDAL NEWS:

When I read the handbill that is being circulated about town entitled "Do You Want It?" I was at first startled. I presume that was the intention of it. And as I read it through I recognized it as taken from the last "NEWS," and when I found the name of my old friend John Doe, Taxpayer, at the bottom, I grew reflective. This again was probably the intention of it. And my first reflection was the wish that my friend John Doe, Taxpayer, Esq., had signed his own name instead of his "nom-de-plume." Why should he blush to be known to his fellow-citizens whom he addresses; why this modesty, or is it something else than modesty—can it be a desire to ape the custom of royal and other high-up personages, who some time go about the world "incognito," which is short for "incognito"—unknown. But John Doe ought not to be unknown. The cause which he represents demands that he boldly emerge from his hiding place and lend to it the weight and respectability which his true name, no doubt, doth possess. He owes a duty to himself and to us, his fellow citizens, to let his name be known. And seriously, Mr. Editor, I am tired of these anonymous communications, when questions of public interest are being discussed. Arguments do derive force, or lack it, from the personality behind them; and when a writer hides behind the name of "Taxpayer," or "Constant Reader," or "Justice," or "Citizen," I can't help feeling that he either is ashamed of the cause which he represents, or that he so rates himself that he fears it may hurt his cause to let his name be known. I don't like either to see announcements of meetings called by "committee," or "Com." or "Committee of Arrangements," etc. If anybody, or any number of bodies has anything to say, let him say it out plainly.

But to return to our business. "Do we want a $60,000 mortgage on Glendale Homes." When I come to reflect, I conclude that depends. It depends on circumstances and conditions. For instance—what is it for? What are we going to do with the money? Is it a promising project that we are going to put it into? Can we sell the bonds to advantage? Can we manage the project so that it shall be not only a promising proposition, but likely to be a paying one in the end? Are we going to get back only 75 cents, or may be 50 or 25 cents on the dollar, or are we going to get back dollar for dollar, or maybe two or three dollars for one?

Shall we with reasonable prosperity be able to pay off our mortgage, or are we liable to lose our homes? All these things are to be considered. So I conclude that whether we want a $60,000 mortgage on Glendale homes or not, depends on several things. Another point occurred to me, too, in the midst of my reflections. It was this: Have those who are arguing against this movement for a municipal electric lighting plant any motive in opposing it except the welfare of the people of Glendale? May it not be possible that their interest is for the welfare of some private corporation, that would like to supply the people of Glendale with light, when and where and how it pleases and upon its own terms? It may not be so in this case, but the reflective man will try to look on all sides of the question.

The condition described as existing at Anaheim is truly appalling, if true, and is calculated to make the Glendalan shrink from committing himself to a policy that would land Glendale in such a predicament. No, no, we do not want that. If this is in fact the condition of Anaheim, and if this condition of Anaheim was in fact caused by its municipal lighting plant, and if this result is the inevitable effect of having a municipal lighting plant—and a number of other ifs, which I do not just now feel quite capable of putting in. These are matters of which we shall have to get more light upon. Neither am I capable of answering my friend John Doe's estimates, which really do look quite formidable. I trust that those who have in charge the estimates that have been made in favor of a municipal plant will produce them and answer so far as possible his fears and agitation. If they can not do this, and do not do it, I forewarn them distinctly now that when the votes are counted after the bond election they will go down to inevitable and deserved defeat.

I have not considered all the pros and cons which the case suggests. I have been and still am in favor of a municipal lighting plant, on general principles.

1st. Because I believe, so far as found practicable and it will work out all right, and no farther, in the public ownership of public utilities. I believe that the public might just as well pay itself for what it gets as to pay it to a private individual or corporation.

2d. If there is a profit from it let the public have the profit. If there should be a loss this loss can be distributed to the public with less hardship than it can fall upon a single individual, or a few individuals.

3d. If it needs a corporation to manage this business, I see no reason why a public corporation may not do it as well as a private one. One is made up of individuals as well as the other. The people have a controlling interest in one, they do not in the other. If the public corporation fails or loses money, it is no worse than private corporations have done; yet they seem anxious to relieve us and take their chances. And there is much more to be said.

But one thing I do object to, and that is rushing an election through before the matter has been thoroughly threshed out. It ought not to be held under less than from four to six weeks from now, so that all that can be said on either side of the question shall be said. Now let some one come forward with an other set of estimates, explain or refute John Doe's alleged facts and show, if he can, that it is for the interest of every voter in Glendale to put a very small fraction of a $60,000 mortgage on his home.

Yours sincerely,
EDGAR LEAVITT.

OWNERSHIP OF LIGHT? YES OR NO? (Communicated)

Since the question of purchasing a lighting plant is open for discussion in your columns and referred to by a nameless correspondent, presented in one light, in last week's issue, I will present another view on the question for the public consideration, and as we think in the interest of the people.

We, according to a recent estimate, I think appearing in the NEWS, have put into street improvements in our city some $250,000, much of this tax for this improvement has been a burden, a large burden for many property owners here, and yet we are very proud of our magnificent showing. It looks well, but we could have done without much of it, and saved many a poor family a most burdensome tax, that they very reluctantly paid. Light and heat we MUST have. They are necessities in every family, whether rich or otherwise.

The editor of McClure's magazine, who a short time ago was in Los Angeles, in writing for one of the city dailies, said he had tired of writing for the public from the editorial sanctum, and had started out for travel and education. That he had noticed two prominent reforms going on, one was the general demand for public ownership of public utilities, and the other the demand for strict integrity, and destruction of official graft. Wherever the graft was found, it was invariably found centered in the saloon. This was before our recent upheaval in the city of Los Angeles, but we saw his statement most emphatically verified in the investigation of graft in the angel city. As to Glendale, we have no saloon element, are not likely to have for some time to come, if we do not now vote for the ownership of our own lights, we shall soon wish we had, or else we will find ourselves lagging in the progressive world, not keeping pace with progress, as manifested in this country and the progressive outside world, who are today insisting on owning these necessities.

Sixteen years ago San Diego city voted for the ownership of their water supply, but insisted in placing the money voted in the hands of so-called "business men," and hence gave the management of this revenue into the hands of the Coronado Beach hotel men, for San Diego.

Said I to my brother-in-law, then a professional man in that city, "Have you not business men of your own that are capable of managing your city funds?" He feared the best results would not be obtained by placing this business in the hands of the city officials, and much preferred to place it in the hands of practical business men.

The business men won, the fund and water was turned over to the Coronado Beach hotel for use and distribution, with what results? Eight years after the city of San Diego was suing the Coronado management for their just share of the funds and water. Today San Diego owns its own water. They learned the usual lesson—that people look after their own first, the city after.

In Los Angeles, what kind of service and water did they have before they owned their own. Every one at all familiar with the facts knows it was not at all satisfactory. Water was poor and service poorer.

In Chicago, nothing but complaint of the quality and service until the city became the owner of its own water. Now the city has a revenue from the sale of water and by this reduces taxation to the public.

In Minnesota, where I lived for a few years, and where my brother now lives, they own their own water and lighting plant. As a result they get their light and water for less than one-half what the surrounding towns, who are furnished by corporations.

The lighting plant here offered for sale is diligently sought after by some promoters that they may combine the gas and electric lighting in one trust. They must pay the very same for it that the city is to pay. Are they buying it for charity. Not much. Simply as an investment. You and I have been importuned to take stock in the gas plant, and told what enormous profits there are, even at 80-cent gas. If there is so much profit in it for the corporations, why not for the municipality? No good reason why it should not be most economical for the people.

Personally, to me it matters not whether the city or corporation owns it, but, Mr. Editor, please put this in a most prominent place in the archives of your records, for we shall want to refer to it not many years hence, if Glendale does not acquire the lighting plant NOW, she will be wanting it later, and then will be asked double what is now wanted for the same plant. The corporation knows this and is not expecting to loose on the purchase, for if not as profitable as they desire, they very well know Glendale MUST have light and gas, and will pay them a good round price for the plant. I am expecting to take stock in the corporation, have promised to do so to help secure the plant. So do as you please, but remember, MUNICIPAL OWNERSHIP is the watchword of the hour, of every progressive town and community. So if we want to be in line with most rustic or the "business men" will have it.

I could say much more, but will only add that we, in order to lessen our expense, must begin to own our necessities, and NOW is a good time to begin.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON ANAHEIM ELECTRIC LIGHTING SYSTEM.

Glendale, Cal., Dec. 15, 1909.

City Council of Glendale.
Gentlemen: The city of Anaheim is a city with a corporate limit of one and a half miles square. Their first bond issue for electric lighting was $7000. A 20 kilowatt generator was installed and three miles of pole lines. Later a second bond issue of $7000 and two miles of pole lines were added, making a total issue of $14,000.

Some ten years later the plant now in operation was installed with a bond issue of $25,000.

This plant is a three-phase system, two 80 kw. generators, engines, boilers, switchboards and etc., including brick building.

Their first rate was 15c per kw. hour with a sliding scale to as low as 10c to larger consumers, this proved unsatisfactory, however, and was followed by a straight rate of 10c to all.

They now have six miles of pole lines, with 34 arc lights for street lighting, charging the city $6.00 per light per month.

There are now about three hundred homes with electric lights installed. The revenue now received provides a profit for a sinking fund.

Estimated cost of current at switchboard, three cents per kw. hour. Can install and equip pole lines for $600 per mile.

Short lines from pole to house with meter installed without extra charge to consumer.

This plant is in charge of one chief electric engineer and three assistants, also two outside men who do wiring and plumbing.

Respectfully submitted by your committee,

HENRY JOHNSTON.
EDGAR W. PACK.

What They Make Judges Out Of.
Justice David Brewer of the United States supreme court, during an address before the students of law at the University of Pennsylvania, told them one of the experiences of his judicial career at his own expense.
"It happened I was sitting at one time on a number of cases in which a good friend of mine was interested as counsel, and it also happened that in many of them my decisions were rendered against my friend's clients. One day after the completion of such a case we sat together talking, when a very bashful young man from the rural districts came in to see me bearing a card of introduction to obtain my advice upon the choice of a profession. 'What do you think you want to do?' I asked him. 'I kind of thought I'd better study law,' he replied, 'not that I want to very much, but because I guess I'd like to be a judge. They make judges out of lawyers, don't they?' he asked, somewhat hesitatingly. 'Once in a while,' my legal friend replied before I could answer. 'Once in a while they do, but not often.'"
Philadelphia Press.

He Wasn't Fooled.
A once famous publisher was a man well acquainted with general literature, and it was often said of him that he never failed to name the author of any given passage. A would be wit, thinking to have a little fun at this gentleman's expense, told his friends at a dinner party before the said publisher's arrival that he had himself written some verses in imitation of Southey and that he intended to puzzle old F. with the question of their authorship.
Accordingly later in the evening the guest quoted his lines, and, turning to Mr. F., he said: "I am sure they are Southey's from their style, but I cannot remember where they occur. Of course you can tell us."
"I cannot say I remember them," replied Mr. F., "but there are only two periods in Southey's life when he could have written them."
"When were those?" asked the joker, with a wink at his friends.
"Either in his infancy or his dotage," was the quiet reply.

Spanish Railroad Trains.
The Spanish train averages possibly twenty miles an hour to allow one to make time exposures of the scenery perhaps. It makes frequent and long waits. At every station the guards run up and down, shouting the name of the town and the number of minutes for each stop. At every station also the two military guards who accompany each train descend and walk around the cars, looking to see that no robbers are concealed. As there is at least one stop an hour these guards get some exercise before the day is over. They say this custom was adopted to drive away any brigands who might be concealed in or under the train and that it has been successful. These military guards are very fine looking men and wear an impressive uniform. We saw more than one black eyed senorita look approvingly after them as they passed by.—Outing Magazine.

Getting at the Truth.
At twenty-three he thought fate was making a special effort to keep him down.
At thirty-five he thought he might have done great things if his wife had not been such a handicap.
At forty he believed he would have been a great man if his children had not made it necessary for him to cling to the sure things.
At fifty he was positive that there was a conspiracy against him on the part of his fellow men.
At sixty he felt that if he could have been thirty-five again nothing could have stopped him.
At seventy he began to believe that he had failed because of a lack of courage and inability to make the most of his opportunities.
At eighty he was almost sure of it.—Chicago Record-Herald.

Savages.
In the New Hebrides are many islands whose interiors have never been visited by Europeans, for the simple reason that to attempt to do so would be to court certain death at the hands of the treacherous and vindictive natives. A little to the north of Assam, too, almost within sight of the tea gardens and the pretty bungalows of the planters, is the country of the Padamites, wherein no white man has dared to set his foot for at least 500 years past.

Punishment and Crime.
"She seems to be having a pretty good time now that she and her husband are separated," whispered the three girls in the corner as she entered the room.
"I don't blame her," said one. "He beat her, didn't he?"
They looked her over again.
"Well, I don't blame him for beating her," the third declared, "if she dressed like that. That red is awful."—Exchange.

Cause For Regret.
"I licked the stuff out of Dick Smith this mornin'!"
"You bad boy! Aren't you sorry for it?"
"Yessum—awful sorry. I just found out that he's goin' to have a birthday party tomorrow."—Cleveland Leader.

in the Toilet.
"Were you ever sent up in a balloon, Sam?"
"No, sah. I's been sent up several times, but never in a balloon, sah!"—Yonkers Statesman.

Beware the goose when the fun preaches.—Spanish Proverb.

Proved His Theory, but Died.
The scene of realism was reached, though by accident, in a criminal trial a number of years ago at Lebanon, O. Two men had a personal encounter. One of them after vainly trying to draw his pistol from his hip pocket turned to flee. A moment later he fell, shot in the small of the back. One chamber of his pistol was found to have been fired. His assailant was tried for murder. The defense contended that the man had shot himself while trying to draw his pistol, which had become entangled in the lining of the pocket, and that the prisoner's shot had not taken effect. The prosecution contended that such a wound could not have been self-inflicted. The defendant's counsel, Clement L. Vallandigham, undertook to demonstrate to the jury just how the dead man's pistol had hung in the pocket and just how possible it was to inflict such a wound. Suddenly there was a loud report, and the lawyer sank to the floor. The ball had entered the back almost in the identical spot where the dead man had been shot. The defendant was acquitted. Mr. Vallandigham died.—Exchange.

Westminster Abbey's Poets' Corner.
Turning from King Henry's chapel, with its wealth of fancy's "fair frost work," to the poets' corner in Westminster abbey, we are attracted by a spell mightier than that of carved stones in the presence of those "serene creators of immortal things" who have enriched our literature with gifts beyond all price. This "glorious company of paupers," as they have been termed, says a writer in Great Thoughts, have won a fame in the glow of which that of statesmen and warriors wanes and perishes, "touched to death by divine eyes." Drawn together, as it were, by the spell of Chaucer, "our first warbler," what Spenser calls "black oblivion's rust" has failed to tarnish their golden record. We move entranced amid the memorials of Dryden, Ben Jonson, Spenser, Shakespeare, Beaumont, Milton, Gray, Addison and many more, including the impassioned peasant singer, Robert Burns, and the great Victorians, Robert Browning and Alfred Tennyson.—London Standard.

Encouragement.
"I have a splitting headache," sighs the beautiful young thing.
"Have you ever tried magnetic healing?" asks the obliging young man.
"No. What is it?"
"You rest your head, thus, on my shoulder, and I pass my arm about your waist in this manner. Now be perfectly calm and see if this does not relieve you."
The position is maintained for five or ten minutes, and then the obliging young man asks:
"Does your head ache any more?"
"Yes—oh!"
"Well, I'm sorry I don't seem able to relieve you."
He is about to remove his arm when she looks up at him chidingly and says:
"It seems to me that if you have any confidence in your method you would be willing to keep on trying!"—Chicago News.

Why She Shut Down.
"A charming gentleman about four years old used to pass my house every day on his way to kindergarten," said a lady, "and in course of time I made his acquaintance and gave a penny to him each morning when we parted.
"Eventually his mother requested me not to give any more money to him. The next morning I did not present the usual penny. He did not seem to notice the omission. The succeeding day when the penny was not given to him he said nothing. But on the morning of the third day when the penny was not forthcoming he sidled up to me and whispered: 'What's the matter? Ain't your husband working?'"

Uncertainty of Lion Hunting.
A lion is a fearful animal. Do not run away with the idea that he is not dangerous. You may have luck to kill twenty, but No. 21 will likely get you. However careful and good a shot you may be, there is the greatest danger in tackling a lion. I remember Colonel H., who had lived in Africa for nine years and during that time had never seen a lion, and the first lion he saw he wounded and got badly mauled, saying to me: "Here, man; you have been here only sixteen months and have killed five lions. Chuck it, man, while you are in luck. They are bound to get you if you go on hunting them."—Forest and Stream.

Mrs. Wilkins (promptly)—I've £3,000 and a better home than yours, and I'll give you three minutes to get out of this.—London Tit-Bits.

The Whole Story.
"I hear you are giving up your charge," said one aged and infirm minister to another the other day. "How are your people taking it?"
"Oh, well," was the answer, "I'm resigning and they're resigned."—Liverpool Mercury.

SUGGESTIVE QUESTIONS ON THE SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By Rev. Dr. Linscott for the International Newspaper Bible Study Club.

May 23rd, 1909.

(Copyright, 1909, by Rev. J. S. Linscott, D.D.) The Council at Jerusalem. Acts xv:1-35.

Golden Text—We believe that through the grace of the Lord Jesus Christ we shall be saved, even as they. Acts xv:11.

Verses 1-5—Are good men liable to hold wrong opinions?

When good men differ in opinion what is the better way in order to reach an understanding?

When a professed Christian gets angry with another Christian, on a mere matter of opinion, has he or not backslidden from the love of God, and what spirit does it show? (This question must be answered in writing by members of the club.)

Circumcision no doubt originated from supposed purposes of health, and physical cleanliness, and afterwards became a national institution of the Jews. State when God first made circumcision the sign, or token of the covenant between him and Abraham and his seed, and to whom the rite of circumcision and God's covenant extended. (See Gen. xvii.)

Is circumcision now essential to salvation?

Is the belief of any doctrine essential to salvation?

Verses 6-11—Is experience of God and his dealings with us, conclusive proof of the will of God in the matters which the experience covers?

Is thorough discussion in church courts a perfectly right way to arrive at the will of God on any matter?

Were those who taught that circumcision was essential to salvation, as well as being narrow, necessarily untrue men?

What is the difference between the "yoke" of the law and the "yoke" of Jesus? (v. 10.)

Verses 12—Recall some of the wonders done through Paul and Barnabas, among the Gentiles, and say what bearing they had upon the dispute concerning circumcision?

Verses 13-21—Who was James, who next addressed the council?

James, the brother of Jesus, was the president of this council; is it probable that his address was of the nature of the judgment of the council on this question?

Verses 22-29—There seems to have been no formal motion passed by the council, but they appear to have reached an unanimous decision as outlined in the address of the president; say whether we are bound to take this decision as the voice of God.

In what particulars is the great wisdom of the council shown in settling this dispute?

Were each of the commandments given in verse 29 intended to be of lasting obligation, or were some of them only temporary?

From whom are Christians to get guidance on all matters in this day?

Verses 30-35—There never will be a time when disputes may not occur, in the church and between individuals; how should they always be settled?

Did this trouble in the church help it or hurt it, and does God always overrule trouble whoever may be the cause of it, for the good of his children?

Lesson for Sunday, May 30th, 1909. Believing and Doing. James II:14-26

Moving on Short Notice.

I was lying on the floor of an old country log house one summer day near a big open fireplace when I heard a peculiar, frightened squeak. I got up to see what looked like a huge mouse moving at a very rapid walk across the room. When I got a closer look I saw that it was a mother mouse moving her whole family. At least I hope there was none left behind, for very soon a small snake, but large enough to put into a panic the mother of four less than half grown children, came through the empty fireplace and after the little fugitive. The mother mouse had two in her mouth, and fastened to either side of her, apparently holding on with their mouths and for "dear life," were the other two. I killed the snake and watched the moving family disappear through a hole in the corner. I do not know whether they returned after awhile or whether the father mouse put up a "To Let" sign and joined them in a foreign country, but I do know that I saved a happy family.—St. Nicholas.

The Creditor's Letter.

Here is an interesting letter received by a well known English tailor in reply to a "final" application for settlement of a long outstanding account: "I have much pleasure in informing you that I have placed you on the list of my creditors, your number on the roll being 103." In view of your name appearing so far down my list and in common fairness to my other creditors who have been on my books now for some considerable time, I am afraid I cannot hold out the slightest hope of the 'early' settlement which you ask for. I think it will be well, therefore, if you discontinue forwarding your frequent reminders, which can do no possible good and which are a constant source of annoyance to me."—London Pick-Me-Up.

The Middle Horse.

A farmer, plowing with three horses hitched abreast, noticed that the middle horse became tired and exhausted long before either of its mates. As the animal was the equal in every way of the other two, he was puzzled as to the cause of its not being able to stand the same amount of work. He finally observed, however, that as they drew the plow along the three horses held their noses close together, with the result that the middle horse was compelled to breathe the expired air from its fellows. The farmer then procured a long "jockey" stick, which he fastened with straps to the bits of the outside horses. The device worked perfectly, for, given its rightful share of good, fresh air, the middle horse was able to do the same amount of work and with no greater fatigue than its fellows.

Many persons are like the middle horse—they do not get their rightful share of pure air. And this is why they are not able to perform as much work nor of as good a quality as they would otherwise be able to do.—Chicago Tribune.

A Ticklish Moment.

If to act cleverly on the spot is the measure of tact, then the man who figures in the subjoined New York Tribune story deserves both respect and admiration: A woman, driving through New England last summer, noticed suddenly that her horse limped a bit, so when she reached the next village she stopped at the door of the blacksmith shop. A man was holding up the doorpost, and to him she said: "Will you please tell the blacksmith to come out? I want to see him."

After the manner of the village idler, the man did not stir, but smiled sweetly at the woman and, lifting up his voice, called:

"Bill, come out! There's a lady wants to see you."

From the depths of the blacksmith shop a deeper voice roared:

"Is she young, John, or old?"

In the words of the old poem, "she looked at John and John looked at her." Then, still without moving, he answered:

"You'll be satisfied, Bill, when you get out."

Survival of the Fittest.

Only one oyster embryo out of every 5,000,000 produced grows up through all the successive stages of youth to the adult state. Even in animals which produce a small number of young there is great destruction, and, taking all the individuals into consideration, only a single pair of young arrive at maturity to replace their parents. There is no exception to the rule that every organic being naturally multiplies at so high a rate that if not destroyed the progeny of a single pair would soon cover the earth. The elephant is reckoned the slowest breeder of known animals. It commences to breed at thirty years of age; dies at 100 and has six young in the interval. After 750 years, supposing all the offspring of a single pair fulfilled the rule and were not destroyed in an untimely way, there would be nearly 19,000,000 elephants alive descended from the first pair.—Sir Ray Lankester in London Telegraph.

When the Terror Quailed.

He would terrorize the neighbors in a most outrageous way, broke the wide world's standing records in athletics every day, while in pugilistic circles he could wipe men in the dust and show master tricks at fencing—laugh at every cut and thrust. He slew tigers in the jungle and scalped Redskins on the plain. He chased lions across the mountains and harpooned upon the main. He could break a bucking broncho—yes, and rope a Texan steer; sling a bowie knife or hatchet, throw the boomerang or spear. In hairbreadth escapes he gloried, did this worthy son of Mars, and he'd lick his weight in wildcats—kick them higher than the stars. But his shoes were in his pocket, and his face was ghastly white; he was silent as an oyster when he came in late at night.—Exchange.

He Took the Chance.

"No," she said, and there was that in her voice which told him she would neither change nor falter in her resolve—"no. I have vowed to marry none save one brave and strong enough to swear that should he ever be elected president he will give the vote to woman."

De Lancy, such was his love's abounding depth, hesitated not at all. "I swear it!" he cried and fell upon his knees before her.—Exchange.

Tibetan Test of Character.

The Tibetans have some strange tests for ascertaining the character of a man, said Sven Hedlin. One is by means of a hole in a block of granite, through which the individual has to crawl. If he is an honest man he will, according to the theory of the Tibetans, creep through, but if a scoundrel he will stop in the middle.

War Play of the Future.

"What properties will we need for the battle scene?" "None whatever. The stage will be bare. The men are supposed to be wearing invisible uniforms and firing smokeless powder from noiseless guns."—Kansas City Journal.

The Best Advice.

If you are about to do something which may cause trouble, ask the advice of a man who has tried it. His advice will be stronger than that of a moralist, and it will be backed by experience.—Atchison Globe.

Keep an eye on your enemies, but keep a microscope to one eye and a telescope to the other when watching your "friends."—P. P. Shevlin.

Deceitful Appearances.

A remarkable experience once befell Mark Twain in Australia, which, he said, determined him never again to judge by appearances. He had just landed at an Australian port, and, to his chagrin, there was no porter in sight to carry his luggage. Seeing a rough looking, badly dressed old fellow leaning idly against a post with his hands in his pockets, the author beckoned to him and said:

"See here, if you'll carry these bags up to the hotel I'll give you half a dollar."

The man scowled darkly, and, taking three or four golden sovereigns from his pocket, he deliberately threw them into the sea, scowled at Mark Twain again and walked away without a word.

Both Tainted.

"You are in the employ of that millionaire up on the hill, aren't you?" snapped the sharp faced woman who ran the butter and egg shop.

"Yes, ma'am," responded the man in the white apron, "and I want two pounds of butter for my master's table. He said he'd send to town after it, only the roads are so bad."

"He did, eh? Well, we are not particular about his trade. Did you tell him I said his money was tainted?"

"Indeed, I did."

"And what did he say?"

"Said so was your blamed old but-ter."—Chicago News.

A Fixed Law.

"You are positive this happened on Tuesday?" demanded counsel.

"I am," said the witness.

"Sure it was Tuesday?"

"Yes."

"Why not Thursday or Friday?"

"Because we had chicken that day. Chicken day is Tuesday where I board."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

The Cook's Declension.

The cook picked up an egg. She looked at it doubtfully. "It's bad," she said. She dropped it. "It's worse!" she hastily added.—Exchange.

Not Acting.

Actor—All the newspapers say my impersonation of Caesar last night was absolutely real. Rival—Perhaps that's so. Everybody I've met says it certainly wasn't acting.

Martin, his wife, parties of the first part, the Title Guarantee and Trust Company, a corporation, party of the second part, and Fidelity Savings and Loan Association, a corporation, party of the third part, and recorded March 21, 1906, in book 2594, page 194, of Trust Deeds, Records of Los Angeles County, California, which record reference is hereby made; said parties of the first part, Robert N. Martin and Pearl C. Martin, his wife, did grant and convey the premises therein described to the Title Guarantee and Trust Company as trustee, for the uses and purposes set out in said Trust Deed, among other uses, to secure the payment of one certain promissory note and interest according to the terms of said note, and other sums of money advanced, and interest thereon, the same being made due and payable to Provident Mutual Building-Loan Association, a corporation, the party of the 3d part, in the payment of the monthly installments of interest and premium due and payable on said note for the months of March and April, 1909, and a default in payment of the fines levied and amount due maturity reserve fund, in accordance with the provisions of the By-Laws of said Provident Mutual Building-Loan Association, and by reason of such default said Provident Mutual Building-Loan Association, in accordance with the provisions of its By-Laws and said Trust Deed, has declared the full amount of the indebtedness immediately due and payable there being the total sum of thirty-six hundred three and 25-100 Dollars, ($3603.25) now due and unpaid.

Whereas, it is provided in said Trust Deed that if there is a default in the payment of any of the principal, interest, or money advanced for any purpose, mentioned as secured by said Deed; that upon application of the party of the 3d part, or its assigns, the party of the 2d part shall give notice and sell the premises, or as much thereof, as shall be necessary to pay the liabilities unpaid secured by the Trust Deed.

Whereas said Provident Mutual Building-Loan Association, a corporation, the holder of the note secured in said Trust Deed, by reason of the default in payments, as stated, has applied to, and requested the Title Guarantee and Trust Company, party of the 2d part, to proceed and sell the granted premises, or so much thereof, as shall be necessary to pay the whole of the principal, premium, interest, fines levied, amount due maturity reserve fund, and interest thereon, attorney fees, all costs, charges and expenses incurred necessary to the execution of said trust, and

Whereas, said Title Guarantee and Trust Company, by virtue of the authority vested in said Corporation as Trustee, will sell at public auction, to the highest bidder, for cash in gold coin on the 5th day of June, 1909, at the hour of 12 M., of said day, at the Western front entrance of the Court House in the City of Los Angeles, California, all the interest conveyed by said party of the 1st part, to the party of the 2d part by said Trust Deed in and to all the following described property, to-wit:

not told the purpose of the experiment.
It was found that those boys who were just beyond the limits of separate visibility, drew lines having startling resemblances to the "canals" seen by some observers of the planet. It is supposed that the eye in some way integrates faint stimuli which are separately imperceptible, and out of irregularly scattered dots constructs fine straight lines. If, therefore, there is such diversity of opinion on the part of observers as to what they really see in Mars, it is not surprising that there should be similar diversity in explanation of the appearances. And as stated in a popular text book of astronomy, the explanation is the thing of chief interest. It is that which stimulates observers to make great expenditures of time and money, for one would not otherwise find much pleasure in studying the faint markings on a body which always looks smaller than an object one inch in diameter appears at a distance of 200 yards!

It is the possibility that our neighboring planet may be the abode of intelligent life which makes it so interesting a subject in popular estimation, and this interest is evidently on the increase, as is shown by the constant appearance of essays and articles on Mars in our magazines and newspapers. A perusal of these discloses the fact that popular opinion leans to the probability that the "canals" are really the work of intelligent beings, and two or three well considered plans for some sort of communication with possible Martian inhabitants have made their appearance.

Many years ago it was proposed to signal to Mars by means of the construction of a gigantic geometrical problem, on a large open plain; and the idea was that the Martians would see and understand it, and would reply by a similar problem constructed on Mars. The experiment was never made, and until recently the project of signalling Mars has remained in abeyance. Now, however, comes no less distinguished an astronomer than Professor W. H. Pickering of Harvard with a plan to send signals to our neighboring world by means of immense mirrors, if, as he says, "any one is willing to put up ten million dollars for it."

Professor Pickering, as reported in the New York Times, says "Practically all astronomers agree that Mars has snow, atmosphere, clouds, vegetation and possibly animal life. Mr. Percival Lowell firmly believes also that there is intelligence there. As a general rule, the public agree with him on this last point, but most astronomers are of the opinion that it has not been proved. And my idea of the way to settle the matter is to send messages. If return signals come to the earth in answer, they would prove that there were intelligent beings on Mars;
if not, the existence of such beings on that planet would be, to my mind,
doubtful."

His scheme for signalling is this:
To fix fifty mirrors, each mirror twenty-five feet square, on a shaft like the polar axis of an equatorial telescope; each large mirror should be made up of one hundred little ones 2½ feet square. There should be fifty shafts, thus bringing the total number of large mirrors up to 2500. Equal to a quarter of a mile square of mirrors in all. The shafts would be mounted parallel to the axis of the earth, and caused to revolve in a direction opposite to that in which the earth revolves. By this means a steady flash of bright light would be sent from the earth to Mars.

The planet will be in a favorable position for such an experiment next September, and the signals should be kept up for three or four months, or perhaps for several years.

The locating of the exact spot on the earth from which to transmit the signals would be the work of most careful calculation, but the main thing is to secure the funds for this gigantic undertaking, and it is interesting to learn that a few days after Prof. Pickering published his plan, a statement appeared in the daily papers that some enthusiastic millionaire would provide the money if it was decided to carry out the experiment. This being the case it appears probable that highly interesting results will develop in the "Problem of Mars" in the near future.

Professor David Todd of Amherst
observatory says: "The older intelligence of these hypothetical Martians would know about physics and astronomy more than we do. They would know when we were nearest to them.
Perhaps they would surmise that we had exhausted the capabilities of our optical methods and understood electrical ones. So there is a bare chance of their sending earthward at such times of nearness together signals that we might receive without wireless apparatus. Of course in the present state of this science, we could not hope to return them, but if once we get such signals, not readily traceable to any terrestrial origin, there would be exceedingly interesting material for us to decipher. Might it not be very useful to the human race in the future development and exploitation of the resources of our planetary home?"

The problem of life on Mars is perhaps the most interesting question that has ever been presented for solution to astronomers, and the widespread interest which is now fully aroused will no doubt evoke that wonderful determination so frequently exhibited in human history, to overcome all obstacles and combined with the no less amazing ingenuity and perseverance of our captains of science we may hope ere long to unravel the secret of Mars.

A LETTER PRESS.

It Was a Great Bargain, but He Knew
It Too Late.

One of the smokers had been exhibiting a diamond pin which he had purchased of a hard up traveler and made at least a hundred dollars on when the gray haired man heaved a sigh and remarked:

"As for me, I never had but one real bargain offered me, and I was too stupid not to take that."

"Something in the way of jewelry?"

was asked.

"No, it was a letter press."

"But I don't see how much of a bargain could be offered in that."

"No, Well, I will tell you. I thought I was in love and was writing the girl
two letters a day. Six months later, when I knew that I wasn't in love with her, I busted up things, and she sued me for breach of promise."

"But you had been careful in your letters not to pledge yourself."

"I told my lawyer that she couldn't exhibit one single loving sentence in any of my letters—that is, any having connection with matrimony."

"Yes."

"But when the suit came to trial she exhibited over forty letters in which I said that I should die if she turned me down, and the jury awarded her $2,500 for her broken heart. Yes, sir, and I could have bought that letter press for $7 and had copies of my letters as fast as written and knew what I was up against at the end. Great bargain, gentlemen—great bargain, and yet I turned it down."—Baltimore American.

THEATRICAL STARS.

Some Famous Ones That Started on the Variety Stage.

Edwin Booth was in his younger days a member of a minstrel company and, unless I am mistaken, appeared in some of the variety shows of that period. He lived to become one of the most noble and dignified figures of his day as well as one of the most distinguished actors that the English speaking stage has ever known. Joseph Jefferson was also a minstrel in the early part of his career, and prior to that he and his sister, both mere children, had been wont to perform on Boston Common and pass the hat among the bystanders.

Loftis was known in the mining camps of California and in the early variety theaters of San Francisco long before she came east in the sixties to win money and fame—"a dramatic cocktail," John Brougham called her—in the legitimate houses of Broadway.
William H. Crane used to play the tambourine in a wandering minstrel company. Nat Goodwin, Lillian Russell and May Irwin came to the front in the early eighties at Tony Pastor's theater. Mr. Goodwin gave imitations of popular actors and lived to become an extremely popular actor himself.
Miss Irwin's remarkable humorous gifts were shown in the condensed versions of comic operas that brought Pastor's entertainments to a close,
and it was in one of these that Miss Russell leaped into fame in a single night. James L. Ford in McClure's Magazine.

Football as Played in Labrador.

One must not imagine it is all work and no play with the Labrador Eskimos. Much to my surprise, I found that our good old game of football had taken hold in Ungava. The game is played with a ball of sealskin stuffed with grass. The goals are placed much the same as in our own game, and each player is armed with a short handled sling made of several thongs of seal hide bent in loops and attached to a wooden handle. The ball may either be tossed in the sling, kicked or, should opportunity offer, picked up and carried. Rough tactics are not barred. I have seen a man tossed in the air and pitched headforemost into a snow bank, while pushing, tripping and blocking are all freely indulged in.
—Recreation.

The Clarinet.

The clarinet has the richest, sweetest voice of all the wood wind instruments, although its sound does not travel quite so far as that of the oboe.
Whenever, as sometimes happens,
there are two melodies to be played at once, the clarinet takes the lower of the two, while the violins play the upper and more important one. But in a military band, where there are no strings at all, the clarinets play the chief melody. The bass clarinet is not so smooth or so sweet as the higher ones. It has a rather choky sound, though softer than that of the bas-soon.—St. Nicholas.

Reassuring Him.

"A little final advice," said a professor of elocution, addressing his pupils before the annual entertainment—
"go well to the front of the stage, don't hesitate and don't be nervous!"

"But, I say, professor," remarked a very self satisfied member of the class, "suppose I forget part of my oration?"

"Oh, that doesn't matter," replied the professor. "On the contrary, the more of it you forget the better the audience will like it!"

Kept Him Busy.

"Did you do much sightseeing when you went abroad?"

"No," answered Mr. Cumrox. "Mother and the girls did the sightseeing. I had to put in my time finding the places where they cash letters of credit."—Washington Star.

Josephine's Many Names.

Josephine, empress of the French,
was Yvette to her intimate friends.
Her name in reality was Marie-Josephe Rose. Napoleon after the marriage exact that she should be known as Josephine. He had a mania for re-baptizing the women of his entourage.
He made his sister Marianne an Elise,
of Annonciade a Caroline, of Paulette a Pauline.

Among her numerous friends, Josephine remained Yvette. Barras never called her otherwise.

The pope was so unfamiliar with her name that when he sent his benediction the letter borne by his legate was addressed to "Our Sister in Jesus Christ, Victoria Bonaparte."

In 1814, on the departure for Elba,
the Delabats designated Josephine under the paraphrase "the mother of Prince Eugene."

At Ruell her tomb bears this simple inscription, "A Josephine, Eugene et Hortense, 1825." The restoration did not permit her recognition as empress —Cris de Paris.

What Was the Matter.

E. A. Southern once told a dilemma
he got into:

"I was acting in a comedy when I had to speak the words, 'What's the matter?' Well, one night I was rather slow about taking my cue and was prompted. I forgot myself for the moment, and when the words came,
'What's the matter?' I thought something or other had occurred out of the common. I paused and looked round.
Everything seemed normal, and the stage waited. Then came another 'What's the matter?' from the O. T.
side. They were all getting anxious behind the scenes, and so was I, for that matter. I looked myself up and down and then scanned my fellow actor, but for the life of me couldn't see anything wrong. At last an audible whisper came: 'Go on with your lines, you idiot! What's the matter with you?' Then it suddenly dawned on me where I was, but the house had tumbled to the situation and came down in convulsions."—Minneapolis Journal.

The Substitution.

It is a well known fact that both
Sir Arthur Sullivan and Sir W. S.
Gilbert had a horror of the titles of their operas becoming known until the very night of their performance. This fear that they might be forestalled recreated considerable confusion at the initial production of "Iolanthe; or The Peer and the Peri." The opera was rehearsed for weeks under the title of "Perola." It was only at the dress rehearsal that the company was instructed to substitute the name "Iolanthe" for that of "Perola," wherever it occurred in the text or lyrics. It was no easy task to replace vocally and in the dialogue a name of three syllables for one of four. Sullivan, however, said (maybe aside) to one or two of the actors who were nervous:
"Go ahead and sing the music. Gilbert won't be in front." Gilbert never attended the first night, "so use any name that you think of first if you are rattled. No one in the audience will be any wiser."—Boston Post.

Mrs. Edward Henry Weston, formerly Miss Flora Chandler, will render a solo at the evening services of the First Presbyterian church, Sunday.

The Woman's Missionary Society of the First Methodist Episcopal church held an interesting meeting in the church parlors, Tuesday afternoon.

The classes of the grammar school of this place are busy with the closing county examinations. Special teachers examinations will be given later.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde R. Carmack and children have returned from an automobile trip to Mojave, where Mr. Carmack has extensive farming interests.

Dr. and Mrs. A. O. Conrad, Mr. and Mrs. Hal Davenport of this place and Mr. and Mrs. John Parker of Glendale, enjoyed an auto trip to Vernon, Sunday.

Byron Ballentine of San Francisco is visiting friends and relatives in this place and Los Angeles for several weeks.

Miss Eulalia Richardson, who has completed her third year at Stanford, returned home Friday evening and will spend her vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Richardson.

Misses Blanche Davenport, Ruby Borthick and Evalena Ayers attended the Burbank theater Tuesday evening where they witnessed a production of "The Circus Girl."

Mrs. J. W. Dutton is spending several weeks in Oakland and San Francisco, visiting friends and relatives. Mrs. Dutton is making the trip in order to obtain rest and a change.

J. H. Seaman of this place, is in Watsonville at this time where he has gone as a delegate from the Mirador Lodge No. 96, K. of P. of Glendale. He will remain until Saturday.

Miss Harriet Myers of Central avenue, a popular young lady, has been appointed to fill the vacancy which is caused by the resignation of Miss Laura Shea in the Tropic postoffice.

Mrs. Wilbur of Glendale avenue has been suffering from a touch of pneumonia for the past few weeks. Sunday last she was well enough to enjoy the fresh air and sunshine for several hours.

John Parker of Glendale is laying the foundation for another home on Blanche avenue, in the Davenport tract. The home will be situated next to the one which he just completed on this tract.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Thrasher of King City, Mo., who have been visiting Mrs. Thrasher's sister, Mrs. James R. Maxwell, have taken possession of the J. B. Normant cottage on Palmer avenue for the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ballentine, Mr. and Mrs. George Ballentine of this place and Mr. Byron Ballentine of San Francisco, were entertained by Dr. and Mrs. Magee at their home in Los Angeles, Sunday evening.

Miss Fannie Alma Marple and Joseph Marple, Jr., attended a banquet given by the "We Boys" class of the First Methodist Sunday school class of Los Angeles. The affair was held at the Y. M. C. A. building.

Letters have been received from Mrs. Hattie Brewster, formerly of this place, this week. These missives state that she left New Orleans on the 11th inst. going to Washington, where she would be met by her future husband and they would be married immediately.

Thursday evening the Eighth grade of the Tropic grammar school entertained the Seventh grade of that school with a delightful little party. The affair was held in the Eighth grade room of the school and the hours were pleasantly spent in games and music.

In the evening refreshments, consisting of ice cream and cake, were served.

Mr. and Mrs. N. C. Burch of "Twin Pines," Park avenue, were delightfully entertained by their grand daughter, Mrs. Gertrude Wagner Stanley, at her elegant new home on Kingsley Drive, Los Angeles, Wednesday last. Mrs. Stanley's husband, Charles C. Stanley, Esq., has closed a successful business career in Goldfield, Nev., and located permanently in Los Angeles. His first step on coming here was to build and provide himself, young wife and daughter, Catherine, a modern charmingly appointed home. Mrs. Stanley is a skillful driver of her own auto car and on the occasion of Mr. and Mrs. Burch's visit, conveyed her elderly grandparents to and from her home, giving them the "time of their lives."

Miss Maude Burch and little Gertrude Burch were of the party.

How the Soul Rests, Feeds and is Revived," will be the pastor's theme for next Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. At the evening service the subject will be: "Excuses." One of the statements of the sermon will be "An Excuse is a Lie!"

TROPICO RESIDENTS ALARMED.

A Number of Robberies Recently.

The residents of Tropic are up in arms against the man or men who are committing so many burglaries in different sections of this place. So much so that they are making a systematic hunt for the miscreants, but up to the last reports their efforts have been unsuccessful.

Early this week searching parties were organized at this place and these parties scoured the country in the neighborhood of the Los Angeles river bed, but after searching for almost a whole day they were forced to return to this town without even so much as seeing the robbers. They gained one point, however. In the neighborhood of the Tropic Mercantile company's store and other places which have been robbed many footprints made by a tennis slipper could be seen, and it was decided that the robbers must have worn these tennis slippers while at work. During the hunt, Monday, the searching parties followed the tracks made by these tennis slippers all the way from this place to Ivanhoe station, where the fellow took the electric car. One of the conductors on the line asserts that he saw a fellow answering to the description held by the local officers. This conductor stated that this fellow boarded his car at Ivanhoe late Sunday night, and stayed on the car until it arrived at Edendale, where he alighted. Although all the local officers and a number of detectives from Los Angeles have been working on the case nothing more as to his whereabouts has been learned.

About four weeks ago the robbers broke into the Tropic Mercantile company's store and at that time secured about $100 in money, besides a revolver and quite a quantity of groceries. Early last week they again entered this store, but at this time only a few articles of groceries were taken. Last Friday night they made another attempt to enter the store, but fortunately Mr. and Mrs. Gallop and Mr. Iffler, a driver for that company, were sleeping in the building. When the robbers started to effect an entrance, Mr. Iffler spoke to them and immediately one of them turned and shot at him when only a few feet distant. They then ran, and Mr. Iffler fired at them three times as they ran and followed them, but it is thought that none of the shots took effect.

Sunday evening they turned their attention to the Dutton grocery on Glendale avenue. They entered the store through a window at the side which is about fifteen feet from the ground. They used a step ladder to get up to the window from the outside. From this store they took coffee and milk and probable some other groceries. Monday evening they decided to try one of the homes, so they went to the residence of Mr. Borthick on Park avenue near Brand boulevard. They went first to the tank house, from which they took several articles then they entered the back porch. From here they took some canned goods. Tuesday evening some one entered the unfinished house of John Parker on Blanche avenue. Entrance was made by the robbers taking out a small pane of glass from the window, after removing the green putty. Care was taken to place the small piece of glass on the porch without breaking it. After the glass was removed the robber stuck his hand through the hole and knocked away a stick which held the window shut, then after raising the window, they crawled in. It is reported that nothing was taken from there. They then crossed the street to the place where Rev. Henderson C. Shoemaker, pastor of the Presbyterian church, is putting up a little home. Here they went to work at the tool boxes belonging to the carpenters. Selecting a small box they pried it open and with the chisels taken from the box they pried open one of the larger chests. Several of these chests were found broken in a nearby potato patch. The owner of the larger chest states that his tools were in about the same position as he left them the night before. At this house the damage can be covered by several dollars at the most.

From all appearances the fellows are new at the game and it is only a question of several days until they will be captured. When this is accomplished they will doubtless be sent to the penitentiary.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH NOTES.

By Henderson C. Shoemaker.

A Christian Endeavor society was formed in our church last Sunday evening and the following officers were elected to serve for the ensuing term: President, Allen Adams; corresponding secretary, Miss Tirzah Snell; recording secretary, Miss Harriet Myers; treasurer, Miss Carrie Bots. The other officers of the society will be elected later.

We wish to make our church helpful to everyone in this community. This, however, we cannot do unless you come in contact with us and our church work. If you have no church home, then make this church your home.

"How the Soul Rests, Feeds and is Revived," will be the pastor's theme for next Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. At the evening service the subject will be: "Excuses." One of the statements of the sermon will be "An Excuse is a Lie!"

Our Sunday school is marching on each Sunday's attendance showing an increase over the preceding Sunday. Those who attended our last Sunday evening's service were delighted to hear Miss Evalena Ayers of this place, singing "Rock of Ages," by Remick. The number was very well presented.

METHODIST ITEMS.

Last Sunday we had a fine attendance at the Sunday school with some new scholars on the roll and the lesson was taken up with a good measure of zeal. All the services of the day were well attended and the services seemed to be appreciated by the people. On Monday evening, the 17th, Dr. C. E. Locke of First Church, Los Angeles, gave his great lecture on "A Pilgrimage to the Shrines of American Heroism," in the church. The church was well filled and from the first sentence to the close of the lecture there was not a dull moment. It is safe to say that the people of Tropic have never been more delightfully entertained than were those who attended the lecture of Monday night. The lecture was instructive and sparkling with humor which kept the audience in the happiest frame of mind all the evening. We assure Dr. Locke that his future visits to Tropic will always be hailed with delight. "Mothers' Day" will be celebrated in this church May 30th, at 11 a. m.

TROPICO THURSDAY AFTERNOON CLUB.

Last Thursday was "Flower Day" with the club and was celebrated by an appropriate program, which was given at the hospitable home of Mrs. W. C. Wattles, who was assisted in entertaining the members of the club by Mrs. Robert Hopkins. The program rendered was, in part, as follows: "Mrs. Peekham, selection from 'Sampson and Delilah'; Miss Moore, 'A Winter Lullaby'; Mrs. Hobbs and Mrs. Stephenson, duet, 'Till We Meet Again'; Mrs. B. W. Richardson, piano solo; Mr. Jas. Fowler, 'Celeste, Roses Bring Dreams of You.'"

CARD OF THANKS.

WHAT'S DOING IN THE VALLEY

A Good Bunch of Items, Business, Social, Personal and Otherwise

Don't forget the "Village Postoffice" tonight at Glendale.

Mr. J. Q. Adams is harvesting an unusually good crop of hay.

Mr. W. E. Werden is reported as being sick in bed with the grippe.

Printing! Yes sir! We do printing of all kinds. Phone East 1737.

Mrs. L. G. Buck of Fairmont avenue is visiting her sister in Highland Park.

Rev. Hill of Pasadena preached a fine sermon last Sunday at the Congregational church.

Dr. F. L. Osenburg, dentist, Watson Block, Fourth and Glendale avenue. Phone Sunset 293.

News items, advertisements, society and church notes will receive prompt attention by phoning East 1737.

A card party was given Tuesday evening at the residence of Mrs. W. K. Cowan for the benefit of the club house fund.

Miss Oscara Carlson from Coronado is visiting this week at the home of Mrs. F. H. Bryan, corner Los Flores and Acacia avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. G. N. Sprague and Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Sprague and two children have returned from a few days' visit at Ocean Park.

Mr. Lee Adams is certainly doing splendid work on the streets around the valley, the valley's appearance is rapidly being beautified.

Mrs. Baker of Los Angeles and Mrs. Brown and Miss Hemstreet of Pasadena, sisters of Mrs. Phinny, spent Wednesday with her here.

The Spanish class of the Eagle Rock school, which is regularly given Wednesday evenings, was postponed this week on account of the examinations.

Rev. Spangler has stopped preaching for the Methodist church on account of his illness, being a sufferer from rheumatism. Rev. Baxter is preaching in Rev. Spangler's place.

Yes! We are all coming tonight to "The Village Postoffice" at the Filger Opera House. Admission, adults, 35c; children, 25c. Be there! It will surely be worth the price.

The Los Angeles Railway company had a gang of men at work this week working on the track and clearing the right-of-way of weeds. This improves the road very much.

Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Edwards and Mr. William Beaver of Los Angeles, and Mr. P. Ham from Chicago were visiting Sunday at the residence of Mr. J. F. Edwards, on Acacia avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Z. Booth of Castle avenue have returned from a pleasure trip to the island of Tahiti. They encountered a storm after being away from San Francisco four days.

SCHOOL NOTES.

The children of the Eagle Rock school have just finished this year's examination test given by the county superintendent. Mr. Ovid Laws, Jr., principal of the school, informs us that excellent work has been accomplished this year.

ANNOUNCEMENT FROM GLENDALE LIGHT AND POWER COMPANY.

To the Citizens of Glendale:

A rumor is being circulated that this company is refusing to furnish light for illuminating the city streets. We beg to state that we have heretofore proposed to the city trustees, and have always been willing to furnish ten arc lights for one hundred dollars per month, and employ a night man to look after them and keep them in good order. This would light the entire central portion of the city. This proposition has never been accepted by the trustees who claim that the city cannot afford to pay one hundred dollars per month for street lighting.

This company has also agreed to furnish incandescent lights at the rate of seven cents per K. W. hour, being the same rate the power companies are charging other cities of similar size and population.
